Thanks to churches, ministries, authors, and publishers, we now have more effective and intuitive resources than we have ever had before. The problem is how do we actually connect parents with their kids to live out Deuteronomy 6? The D6 gathering will address this critical question that everyone in today's church is asking by bringing together today's leading experts in family ministry. These frontline leaders will help equip us with the strategies, ideas, and resources needed to reconnect parents with kids.
